

THE ABERCROMBIE DAMERON SCHOLARSHIP ...

Benefits children of Workers United SRJB Members.

Dameron was a Vice President of ACTWU (now Workers United) until her death in 1982. Her Career with ACTWU focused on helping working people and serving the special needs of working families.

Emma

E.L. Abercrombie was the long-time Secretary-Treasurer of Textile Processors Local 218 which merged with Workers United. Although his formal education went to just the 6th grade, he had a successful career. However, he said that education would have opened the doors of opportunity much sooner and that today's competitive world almost demands a college education.

WHO QUALIFIES?

Children of Southern Regional Joint Board Members in good standing who:

are attending an accredited college or university on a full time basis, or have been accepted and are enrolled in an accredited college or university

HOW MUCH HELP CAN I GET? Non-renewable grants are currently $1000

HOW IS A SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT SELECTED?

Selection is based on academic achievement, extra-curricular involvement and citizenship. An essay is required. Recommendations for the scholarship are made by a panel of professional educators who volunteer at the request of the scholarship board.

The Southern Regional Joint Board is pleased to sponsor the Abercrombie Dameron Scholarship for the benefit of our members and their children. We are particularly proud to honor the memory of Emma Dameron, and E. L. Abercrombie who fought to improve the conditions of our members both on the shop floor and in the broader world outside their workplace.

The scholarship has come about through the voluntary contributions of leaders and members throughout the Southern Region and from employer contributions that were negotiated by the Union. We are grateful to them for their commitment to educating the young.

Fraternally,

Harris Raynor,
Vice President and Southern Director

Abercrombie Dameron Scholarship

Workers United Southern Regional Joint Board
